Coffman Cove Community Library News

Cliff Neillsen, award winning illustrator, presented at the Coffman Cove Community Library on May 31, 2017. Mr Nielsen talked to students and adults from the community about how he became a book cover illustrator. He worked with publishers and authors, received training and learned how to get “the hook” for a book. A book illustrators strives to design a book cover that will catch many readers interest. He spent over an hour talking about his career, showing slides of his work, and answering questions from his audience. He then signed the books Coffman Cove Community Library has with his illustrated covers. It was an honor to have him visit and present at our library.
